Expertise offer	The University of Strasbourg will be the coordinator.
	The University of Strasbourg (Unistra) is at the starting stage of a GEP implementation. Nonetheless, it has eight years of experience in the political field of setting specific gender focused actions. One of which was to co-found

	and chair during six years the national standing conference for Equality and Diversity Officers within French higher education institutions (CPED). This was an opportunity for Unistra to gain knowledge on the existing French provisions, national action plans and French legislation. In January 2017, the Rector of Unistra put in place an unprecedented vice-presidency dedicated to gender equality, with a long term commitment in the implementation of GEP at the highest management and political level. The University of Strasbourg has a long and strong experience with coordinating European Projects, and a dedicated "Europe Office" with a strong expertise on European Project Management. The future consortium can rely on it. A second partner is involved with strong expertise in setting GEP in its own university since 2013. It will help the other partners at the starting stage to implement their GEP, set targets and avoid pitfalls.
